Remove the meat from the ribs and chop it into small pieces. Simmer the bones and the meat in the 6 tins of water. Skin well. When the meat is tender remove the bones. Mix the flour with the cold water or stock, add to the soup and cook until there is no taste of raw flour. Beat the yolk of egg with one tablespoonful of tepid water and add half a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Add to the soup and cook for one to two minutes.

If wanted serve with a tablespoonful of melted butter to which has been added sufficient paprika to make it a deep red colour. Pour this onto the surface of each plate when serving.

The same soup can be made with salf a kilo of tripe cut into very small pieces but no butter is added. Instead the fat is removed from the soup when it is ready and the paprika is mixed with it and it is then returned to the soup. When made with tripe this soup should be served with a mashed clove of garlic and one tablespoonful of vinegar.

If mutton stock is not liked a very good soup can be made in the same way, by using 4 tins of any well flavoured stock.

262. White Onion Soup (French).

4 tbsp. butter 2 tins milk

4 medium onions-diced 1 tin white stock or water

1 tin soft breadcrumbs Salt and pepper

Heat the butter, add the onions and, to avoid discolouring the onions cover closely and cook gently for an hour. Add the crumbs, milk and stock and cook slowly for three quarters of an hour or longer. Rub through a fine sieve re-heat and season to taste

Grated cheese may be added to this if wanted.

FISH.

Although Baghdad is situated on the banks of the Tigris and within a few hundred miles of the Persian Gulf, the choice of fish available locally is small. The four species used as food are the "biz" (Barbus esotinus), the "shabbut" (Barbus gripus), the "bunni" (Barbus puntius Sharpei) and the "dhakar" (Barbus anthopterus) all of which are closely allied to the barbel, roach and tench of European waters and are of the same superfamily as the carp. The "jarri" or catfish is also eaten. There is little variety in this to anyone from the Islands of Great Britain or the coasts of Europe and America and the foreigner is all the more amazed when he hears that one of Iraq's exports is her fish—to neighbouring countries bordering on the Mediterranean.

The subtle flavour of the river fish is much appreciated by Iraqis but the fact that most recipes for fish include strong condiments, spiecs and tasty vegetables suggests that the flavour is not really all that could be desired.

The most famous fish dish of Baghdad is undoubtedly "samak masguf" and particularly at dotted with the fl brush wood fires which are silhouet roasting fish. WI heat of the day picnic parties set high prowed "b with a pile of bru in the bow, a good of khubz, fruit and beverages and the which are towed be strings through the ing the fish and wh the lateness of the and, with a round of falls to with zest.

263. Children's F

 $\frac{1}{2}$ k. fish (Biz) $\frac{1}{2}$ tins water

1 small onion

1 large tomato2 tbsp. chopped

Clean and sa to become firm.

Bring to the parsley, sliced onlo Remove the fish, o

Melt the butt the fish to make a and parsley if liked

264. Fish Mousse

2 tins flaked fi fish)

1 tbsp. anchovy

4 tbsp. mayonr

The fish, whilittle lemon juice hour. Remove the perfectly smooth, cream, mayonnais the fish and chill for a few minutes mayonnaise thinn and particularly at the times of the full moon in summer, the riverside is dotted with the flames of brush wood fires against which are silhouetted the roasting fish. When the heat of the day is over picnic parties set out in high prowed "ballams" with a pile of brushwood in the bow, a good supply of khubz, fruit and chilled beverages and the fish which are towed behind by ner eat

to gg on en

the nall

nen

the

ove

me

ons

ock

fine n a y is the the bel.

the

to ica

q's

the he stv

ed.

if"

strings through the gills. The "balamchis" or boatmen, are expert at preparing the fish and when it is finally lifted from the embers and laid before one, the lateness of the hour and the innumerable biting insects are foregotten and, with a round of Arab bread for a plate and fingers instead of forks, one falls to with zest.

263. Children's Fish Dish.

½ k. fish (Biz) without bones

 $2\frac{1}{2}$ tins water

1 small onion

1 large tomato

2 tbsp. chopped parsley

Salt and pepper 1½ tbsp. flour 1½ tbsp. butter

1 hard boiled egg

Clean and salt the fish and leave in the refrigerator for several hours to become firm.

Bring to the boil $2\frac{1}{2}$ tins of water, add one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, sliced onion and sliced tomato. Put in the fish and simmer till tender. Remove the fish, drain well and keep hot.

Melt the butter, mix in the flour and add $1\frac{1}{2}$ tins of strained liquid from the fish to make a sauce. Season if necessary, add a chopped hard boiled egg and parsley if liked.

264. Fish Mousse.

2 tins flaked fish $(\frac{1}{2} - \frac{3}{4})$ kilo of fish)

2 tbsp. cream 2—3 drops tabasco or chilivinegar

1 tbsp. anchovy paste

4 tbsp. mayonnaise

The fish, which must have bones in it, should be rubbed with salt and a little lemon juice and baked until well cooked—about three quarters of an hour. Remove the bones, flake the fish and measure. Pound in a mortar until perfectly smooth. Add the anchovy and pound till well mixed. Mix with the cream, mayonnaise and tabasco. Rinse a mould with cold water, press in the fish and chill thoroughly. To turn out, invert on a serving dish and cover for a few minutes with a cloth wrung out in boiling water. Serve with mayonnaise thinned with vinegar to the consistency of thick cream.

Gelatine is not needed in this dish as sufficient is obtained by baking the fish its bones.

Two tablespoonfuls of pounded prawns can be substituted for anchovy and the finisher mousse should be garnished with them.

265. Fish Salad-(Greek).

13 tins cold boiled fish Salt and pepper

13 tins fried aubergine in slices Oil and vinegar dressing

1 tin sliced tomatoes

Break the fish into small pieces, mix with the egg plont which should be fried in olive oil, and with the peeled sliced tomato. Press with oil and vinegar.

266. Fish Stew.

2 tins boned fish $(\frac{1}{2}-\frac{3}{4}k.)$ 2 large potatoes skinned and parboiled 2 tbsp. chopped pork or bacon 1 tbsp. fat 2 large potatoes skinned and parboiled $\frac{1}{2}$ tin milk $\frac{1}{2}$ tin water or stock

Bake the fish, which has been salted and a little lemon squeezed over it, until it is soft enough to remove the bones. Chop the onion and pork and fry until tender without browning. Slice the parboiled potatoes.

Put atlernate layers of potatoes, pork and onion and fish in a saucepan until all the ingredients have been used up. Season. Add the milk and water. Cover closely and simmer for about half an hour.

267. Grilled Fish.

Clean, wash and dry the fish and cut in slices about three quarters of an anch thick.

Mix the lemon juice, olive oil, salt and pepper and pour over the fish, turning the slices to be sure they are well coated. Leave in the ice chest for three to four hours.

Prepare a fire with charcoal and place a fire grate over it. Lay the slices of fish on the grate and grill, turning them from time to time \mathcal{E} brushing with the oil and lemon mixture remaining in the dish. (A feather may be used for this).

When grilled keep warm in the oven.

Spread mashed potatoes on a dish and place the slices on the mash. Serve with tomato sauce.

268. Masguf.

1 shabbut 2 feet in length or a European fish very rich in fat A large bundle or dry brushwood large bundle or dry brushwood fine twigs without leaves 9 tomatoes

½ tin Worcester sauce

1-3 tbsp. curry powder

2 tbsp. butter

2 or 3 pointed ins. long 3 onions

Cut the fish downth a clean cloth.

Make a fire al stakes into the grou order to eauidisbe tant from it. Hold the fish with the cut surface towards the fire and force it onto the pointed ends of the sticks so that they penetrate the skin and the fish hangs in front of the sticks with the cut surface towards the fire and the skin surface towards any breeze. It is adv

Make a secon frying pan. Add sli minutes. Add curr continue cooking fo

By this time the adjusted to provide out the embers of become slightly blad lay it skin side down till it is well cooked mixture and heat the adding any further stick or fork to allow

Masquf may tomato mixture butoven the fish first the flavour is never

2 or 3 pointed stakes 12—15 ins. long 3 onions tin water Salt and pepper

Cut the fish down the back at the side of the backone, gut it and wipe with a clean cloth. Rub with salt.

Make a fire about 2 feet in diameter. Insert two or three sharp pointed stakes into the ground at about 15 inches from the fire and slightly curved in order be equidistant from it. Hold the fish with the cut surface towards the fire and force it onto the pointed ends of the sticks so that they penetrate the skin and the fish hangs in front of the sticks with the cut surface towards the fire and the skin surface towards any breeze. It is advisable to make the fire in as sheltered a place as possible.

Make a second smaller fire. Chop the tomatoes roughly into a large frying pan. Add sliced onion, water and butter and cook for about five minutes. Add curry powder (1 - 3) tablespoonfuls according to taste).

continue cooking for another ten minutes.

By this time the fish should be fairly well cooked, the fire having been adjusted to provide continuous heat without burning or smoking it. Spread out the embers of the fire to about two inches in depth and allow them to become slightly black on top. Quickly remove the fish from the stakes and lay it skin side down on the embers. Leave for about ten to fifteen minutes till it is well cooked. Meanwhile add the Worecester sauce to the tomato mixture and heat to scalding. Spread this over the surface of the fish after adding any further seasoning if desired. Prick here and there with a pointed stick or fork to allow the sauce to penetrate and serve on a tray or large dish.

Masquf may be served without the sauce. It may be served with the tomato mixture but without the Worcester sauce or it may be done in the even the fish first being rubbed generously inside and out with butter, but the flavour is never so good.

269. Mock Lobster.

1 medium sized onion
2 tbsp. salad oil
2 tbsp. vinegar
2 thsp. vinegar
2 tins cold baked white fish (biz)
2 tbsp. tomato sauce
2 tbsp. sherry
2 tbsp. butter
Pepper and salt

Slice the onion into a dish. Pour over it the oil and vinegar. Flake onto this the white fish and leave until required—at least an hour.

To cook, put into a saucepan the butter and tomato sauce. Add the sherry and when hot add the fish and vinegar, but not the onion. Cook till ho! Stir gently trying not to break the fish as the appearance is better if it it in large flakes.

Place on a dish or if possible in lobster shells and garnish with a little parsley and paprika or coralline pepper.

270. Prawn Salad in Curry Mayonnaise.

2 tins cooked and shelled prawns Lettuce medium sized cauliflower I tin mayonnaise to which I tsp. (parboiled) curry powder has been added

Prepare a dish or four individual dishes with lettuce. Arrange sprigs of cauliflower and prowns in the centre. Serve with curry mayonnaise.

271. Saluna.

k. white fish without bones large sweet, green peppers onion large egg plant
 tomatoes
 2—3 tbsp. lemon juice
 tsp. sugar or dibbis tin water
 Salt and pepper
 tbsp. olive oil

Clean the fish, salt it, cut into 8 pieces, and place on a greased fireproof dish. Cut the peppers in half and slice the onion. Slice the egg plant and salt it. Let it stand for half an hour and then press out any fluid and fry it and the onion in olive oil. Cover the fish with the peppers, then the onions and egg plant and finally the sliced tomatoes. Sprinkle with a little salt and pepper. Mix the lemon juice and sugar in the $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of water and pour over the fish. Bake in a hot oven for $\frac{1}{2}$ — $\frac{3}{4}$ of an hour until the fish is thoroughly cooked and only a little sauce remains. Do not allow the fish to become dry, add a little water or stock if necessary. Garnish with parsley and serve hot or cold.

272. Samak bit Tawa.

1 tbsp. butter or olive cil
banes
2 numi Basrah
1 tin finely chopped or grated
onion
2 clove of garlic
1 tbsp. curry powder
1 tbsp. butter or olive cil
2 numi Basrah
2 tin tomato juice
1 tin vinegar or lemon juice
Salt and pepper

Wipe the fish, cut it into 8 slices, rub with salt and leave in the refrigerator for a few hours. Put the pieces in a greased fireproof dish.

Fry the onion should be used for the mix and cook for 5 Add the vinegar with like cream. Spread the for ½-¾ of an hour.

This recipe can they greatly improve

273. Samak Tajin.

1 fish about 2 fee 5 onions 5 tomatoes Salt and pepper

Half bake or fry with chopped onion over the pomegranat hot oven. (Serve

274. Samak Taratu

This is regarded is offered when the

1 fish 2 feet in land 1 salt 1 tin olive oil

1 tin soft bread a

Sea fish is prefeused. The fish should pieces of convenient Lay the pieces on a leand pour over the old dish and cook in the fire; turn and cook of lay all the fish on a lo in the paper and wh While the fish in fluid is absorbed. Do pound in a mortar. the drained bread of collander or coarse is sauce should be like adjusted to taste. It crumbs may be adde

It is customary is optional. Cover w

Fry the onion and finely crushed garlic till golden brown. Olive oil should be used for frying if the dish is to be served cold. Add the curry, emix and cook for 5 minutes. Add the tomato juice and stir till very thick. Add the vinegar with the crushed interior of the numi Basrah. Cook till thick like cream. Spread this mixture over the fish slices and bake in a hot oven for $\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{3}{4}$ of an hour. To prevent drying it may be necessary to add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of stock or water during cooking.

This recipe can be made without curry and without numi Basrah but they greatly improve its flavour.

273. Samak Tajin.

1 fish about 2 feet in length onions

tomatoes

Salt and pepper

tsp. cinnamon

tsp. curry or other spices

tbsp. ... concentrated ... sour pomegranate juice

Butter or olive oil

Half bake or fry the fish, spread it open and arrange it on a dish. Cover with chopped onions, chopped tomatoes, spices and seasonings. Sprinkle over the pomegranate juice, add plenty of butter or olive oil and bake in a hot oven. (Serves 8).

274. Samak Taratur.

This is regarded by many as the finest fish dish of Syria and is one which is offered when the host wishes to pay special honour to his guest.

1 fish 2 feet in length

Salt

 $\frac{1}{2}$ —1 tin olive oil I tin soft bread crumbs 2 tins pine kernels or kashew nuts

 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. tartaric acid ‡ tin lemon juice

2 olives

Parsley

Sea fish is preferable for this dish, but if not available shabbut may be used. The fish should be gutted, wiped, well rubbed with salt, and cut into pieces of convenient size for a baking dish. The head should not be removed. Lay the pieces on a large sheet of paper which should be folded at least once, and pour over the olive oil, wrap up the pieces in the paper, lay on a baking dish and cook in the oven for 10 minutes to half an hour according to the fire; turn and cook as long again. When well cooked, remove the bones and lay all the fish on a large serving dish pouring over the oily fluid which remains in the paper and which will later set like gelatine. Season.

While the fish is cooking soak the bread crumbs in water until no more fluid is absorbed. Drain. Mince the kernels or nuts at least three times, or pound in a mortar. Dissolve the tartarice acid in the lemon juice. Combine the drained bread crumbs, nuts and lemon juice, and pass them through a collander or coarse sieve to ensure a smooth sauce. Add plenty of salt. The sauce should be like mayonnaise which will just pour. The flavour must be adjusted to taste. If the flavour of nuts or lemon is too strong more bread crumbs may be added.

It is customary to arrange the flaked fish in the form of a fish but this is optional. Cover with the sauce, place two olives for the eyes and decorate with parsley, pieces of beetroot or whatever is wanted. The dish should be served cold, but if served hot the sauce should be separate from the fish.

275. Sayadia.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ k. white fish (biz) without Salt and pepper bones $1\frac{1}{2}$ tins rice

 $\frac{1}{4}$ tin olive oil $\frac{2\frac{7}{4}}{4}$ tins water from the fish

3 big onions

½ tin almonds

The rice should be cleaned, put into boiling water and allowed to soak for 1-2 hours.

Half fry the fish in the olive oil, season and then put it into boiling water until completely cooked. Meanwhile fry the sliced onions and nuts in the fishy oil. When the fish is cooked remove and keep warm. Bring to the boil $2\frac{1}{4}$ tins of water in which the fish was cooked.

If the rice is dry 3 tins of water should be used.

Cook till the rice is tender and the water has evaporated.

276. Smoked Fish.

½ tin coarse salt
4 tins water

Small fish or fillets of fish
Oak chips or straw

Make a brine with the salt and water. Split open and clean small fisher cut $\frac{1}{2}$ inch thick fillets from a large fish. Immerse in brine for an hour. Construct a fire in such a receptacle that the smoke can be led through a pipe to the smoking box, in order to cool it before it reaches the fish. This is important as if the smoke is slighly warm there is slight cooking of the fish which is undesirable. A tea chest makes a good smoking box. The fish may be hung on wires and should be smoked for 2 to 3 hours, the consistency in winter should be somewhat soft and in summer medium hard.

277. Swedish Stromungflundror.

16 small Basrah soles
4 tsp. salt
5 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
5 tbsp. milk
6 Sifted dried breadcrumbs
7 Frying fat
8 Lemon slices

½ egg—beaten

Se'ect small firm fish. Cut off heads and tails and fillet, removing the back and small bones. Rinse, dry very thoroughly and salt the fish using half the salt. Mix the butter and parsley and divide into eight parts. Arrange the fish in pairs of the same size. Place one fish skin side down, smear with the butter and parsley mixture and cover with the second fillet, keeping the skin side up. Press firmly together. When the eight pairs have been so treated dip into a mixture of beaten egg, milk and salt and coat with dry breadcrumbs. Fry in hot fat. Garnish with slices of lemon.

This dish may be made with boneless slices of white fish (biz).

Iraq is particularly found in her plains mountains, and the particularly true stories of enormout of sandgrouse are us sceptically treated by men of other countries partridge, quail, chuko cock, snipe, bustard, geese, duck and many to be found. In the turkeys thrive in the districts. The domestic however, is a miserable oplump European fowl is Turkey is usually a with chicken, forms the sions. Nut sauces, too, Circassian chicken are a oriental.

A roast turkey, or course of an English Chrisausage meat or, in the with mushroom, cranber

The "V" shaped br "wish bone". Each arm wish for something and the apex of the "V" is so is commonly called the nose".

278. Brazil Chicken.

1 chiken

½ tin Mango sweet of green onion leaves

Roast the chicken, serving dish. Put into the serving dish. Put into the oven for 3—5 minutes.

279. Charkas Tawuq-C

1 chiken

2 tins broth

Salt and pepper

🗦 tin soft bread crui